WASWIFT'S EXCELLENT RACE.

Excellent racing weather prevailed again at Worth yesterday and the usual large attendance was present. The racing was good throughout, the sport being characterized by some close finishes.

No stake race was up for decision, but the card was well arranged throughout, the most important race being the fourth, a free handicap purse of $500 at seven furlongs for all ages. Waswift, despite the fact that he was conceding much weight to the three horses that were entered against him, was made an even money favorite and justified the confidence placed in him by his many backers by winning in a driving finish by a length from Andes, which beat Constellator a nose for second place. Coburn gave Waswift a splendid ride and his vigorous finish brought forth a volley of cheers from the grandstand. Waswift was not called on until entering the last quarter, where he steadily wore down Constellator, although he was under a strenuous drive all through the last eighth. Andes was given a rather weak ride, but at that managed to outstay Constellator in the closing strides, just getting up in time to get second place on the post. The latter tired just a trifle in the last few strides. Carl Kahler showed his usual turn of speed, but was beaten when the pinch came.

The fifth race, a dash of one mile for all ages, was won by Jackfull, which put up a remarkably fast performance, negotiating the distance in 1:39½ which is three-fifths of a second faster than the track mark. He led from start to finish, but had to be driven out at the end to stall off Barca's determined bid in the last sixteenth. He won by a head, Barca beating Callant six lengths for second place. Callant tired perceptibly when a sixteenth from home. Dr. Stephens was thoroughly beaten when turning into the last quarter. Allie Virgie showed some early speed. Hoodwink was never a serious factor.

The first race of the day, a six furlongs scramble for maiden two-year-old fillies, went to Esherin, which was really thrown into a soft spot. She was made a 7 to 10 favorite backed to 1 to 2, winning as the betting indicated. Aply ridden by Coburn she ran Corsica into early submission and then came away without much of an effort, winning as her rider pleased by two and a half lengths from Whiten, which beat Monia the same distance for second place. Whiten was much the best of the others. Monia ran at about an even gait throughout. Vestia had enough when straightening for home. Aurie B. was badly cut off in the first sixteenth, Buchanan being compelled to pull her up to avoid falling. This mishap threw her completely out of the race and she did not have a chance thereafter, being given an easy ride.

The second race, a dash of one mile and seventy yards for three-year-olds, was taken by O'Hagen a rank outsider in the betting. First Nat Eggleston and then Tom Wallace showed the way in front, the latter leading to the last quarter where he retired in favor of O'Hagen, which took an easy command winning by one length from Matin Bell, which beat Chickadee a head for second place. Matin Bell finished stoutly and showed gameness under punishment. Chickadee came from far back in the last quarter and would have been second in another stride or two. Best Man was right there and is deserving of attention from now on.

The long overdue Bummer at last ran to his best form and had little trouble in annexing the purse of the third race to his owner's credit. He led from start to finish, winning easily by three lengths from Annie Thompson, which beat Automaton a head for second place. The latter two fought it out sharply all through the last eighth for second place. Georgie, off none too well, made up ground fast in the first quarter and showed her usual turn of speed, but faltered badly when the pinch came. Oscar ran well for a half mile.

The last race of the day, a dash of one and a quarter miles for three-year-olds and upward, was won by Blessed Damozel. She met with much interference in the early stages of the race but when well straightened out while going down the backstretch shot to the front and opened up a big gap on the field. She appeared to be an easy winner in the last eighth but had to be driven out in the closing strides to beat out Silver Fizz by a neck. Sarilla finished an indifferent third. Silver Fizz ran an excellent race, moving up fast when turning for home and finishing resolutely. Sarilla tired perceptibly in the last eighth. Do Madge fell out of the contest when entering the last quarter. Egyptian Prince ran well for seven furlongs and Ida V. for six.

The weather, as was that of Thursday, was almost ideal for racing purposes and the track was at its best. Betting was brisk, but not so lively as that on the preceding day.

This is the closing day of what has been a remarkably successful meeting. To Worth was vouchsafed what was denied to the other local tracks this year, almost uniformly good racing weather, an element that contributed largely to the prosperity that fell to the course. The main feature of the day is the Fort Dearborn Handicap, for which eight horses are entered to start, an excellent showing for so long and trying a journey as two miles and a quarter. It should draw out a great crowd, and no doubt it will.

LOCAL TURF GOSSIP.

"Danny" Lynch and C. F. Lind shipped their horses yesterday to California. In the latter's charge are six horses belonging to Joe Terry, of Sacramento, one of which is a highly bred mare with a suckling colt by her side, the get of Masetto. A report was in circulation yesterday to the effect that James R. Keene had wired an offer to Lind of $10,000 for the mare. This offer was submitted to Mr. Terry who is in California. The latter wired back to Mr. Lind not to accept the offer.

A. C. Franklin, who is training the horses of Woodford & Buckner, which includes Pink Coat and Bad News, will ship next Sunday all the horses trained by him at present to Lexington, Ky., where they will be wintered. The report that Pink Coat would be retired to the stud on his arrival in Lexington was erroneous. The horse at present is as sound as ever, and if he winters well will be again campaigned.

Jockey Donnelly left last night for California where he will do the riding for G. B. Morris.

Jockey Coburn is reported as having signed a four months contract to M. H. Tichenor at a salary of $1,200 a month for second call on his services.

Bummer set a new track mark for five and a half furlongs when he negotiated the distance in the third race in 1:06½. Jackfull's time of 1:39½ for the mile reduced the World record three-fifths of a second. Barca, which finished second to Jackfull, was timed by several owners in yesterday's race in a fraction better than 1:39.

Lawrence Young, president of the Washington Park Jockey Club, was an interested visitor at Worth yesterday.

The Don, Limelight, Silurian, King Barleycorn, Merops, Knightbanneret, Filly Deck and Leo Newell are listed for sale at 1 o'clock p. m. sharp this afternoon. The Don is a cracking good two-year-old and should evoke keen competition.

John F. Schorr, Andy Blakely and P. M. Burch will ship their horses tonight to California. The latter recently purchased the three-year-old filly Marque from P. Dunne, and she will run in the name and colors of her new owner in the Fort Dearborn Handicap today.

Jockey C. Kelly, who rides for J. J. Marklein, has come to the front faster than jockeys usually do, Winner—Ch. g. by St. Saviour—Kassie (trained by J. Robertson).

Went to post at 2:15. At post 7 minutes. Start bad. Won pulled up: second easily. Sevoy, a high class sprinter, led unextended throughout and was brought up to a hack canter at the end and was much the best. Unmasked reserved his speed to the stretch, where he made a final but unavailing effort to get up and was the best of the others. Lord Badge closed up with a rush at the end. Himself, out-run early, was moving up in the stretch and ran a good race. Harry New ran a fast and game race and finished like a whirlwind after making a wide stretch turn. Demurrer followed the winner's pace for five furlongs and then quit. Belvino sulked without blinkers and will do to watch. Young Henry was practically left and only cantered the journey.

Scratched—35980 The Musketeer, 123; 35983 Huntress, 107.

Winner—B. c. by Sensation—Poncho (trained by A. J. Joyner).

Went to post at 2:40. At post 2 minutes. Start bad. Won driving; second the same. Pittacus was lucky and having clear sailing was always prominent and wore the leaders down in a game finish after a fast rush down the stretch. Earl of Warwick, nearly left, closed an immense gap, finished very fast and was much the best. Right and True found his speed suddenly but failed to stay. Niaux is improved; showed plenty of speed and held on well and should score an early win. Ithan was going strongly at the end. The Guide ran well and is improving. Turnpike failed to stay on the hard track and prefers mud. Albany Girl made up much ground from a bad start.

Pittacus, show, 3 to 1. Earl of Warwick, show, evens. Right and True, show, 1 to 2.

Winner—B. g. by Prince Royal—Tartarine (trained by E. L. Graves).

Went to post at 3:15. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won driving; second easily. Oom Paul and Belle's Commoner raced as a team from start to finish and the winner outstayed the western colt after a terrific and well sustained drive throughout the long stretch. The latter was probably not quite keyed up for so gruelling a struggle, but ran a brilliant race and is evidently of superior class. Huntressa and Cameron fought it out for third place in as game manner as the first two, the filly getting up in the last stride. Cameron ran as if sore and failed to show his usual speed and tired at the end. Articulate fell away after going the first five furlongs and was overweighted. Waterton may win when properly placed.

Went to post at 3:40. At post 1 minute. Start good. Won easily; second driving. (Continued from First Page.)

and the prediction is made by capable horsemen that by next season Kelly will be one of the best riders in the west, says the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune, of Friday. Kelly was discussed in the paddock yesterday by Dan Lamasney and John Ray. "It is just two years ago last spring, when, one night when we were shipping our horses, and Marklein was shipping his, that a dirty-faced, long-haired kid came up and asked if he could go along," remarked John Ray. "He asked 'Jakie' and 'Jakie' told the boy to go away. The kid, however, was determined and persistent, and made us pay attention to him. Mr. Lamasney and I finally urged 'Jakie' to take him along, but 'Jakie' refused and I said to the boy, 'Get into the car. I will let you go with my horses.' We walked away to get a drink, and, while we were talking, Marklein suddenly remarked that he would take the boy. We had forgotten all about him, but, at any rate, 'Jakie' took him. That boy is Kelly, who is riding for Marklein now, and is one of the best boys at the track.

"His contract would bring a bunch of money," said Mr. Lamasney. "I wish I had taken that kid." Kelly was a messenger boy in this city a few years ago. Marklein gave him an opportunity to gallop horses, and for months he was a joke, because every horse that he got upon was sure to throw him. Gradually he learned to ride, however, and today he is regarded as a comer for the first rank.

Jockey J. Martin has learned that there are other ways of losing diamonds and money than by betting on the wrong horse. He was walking down Broadway, between Fortieth and Forty-first streets, early Thursday morning, when two men jumped out of a doorway, and, while one of them held him, the other tore off his tie, containing a valuable diamond pin, and took $150 out of his pocket. Martin is a little fellow. He fought the robbers as best he could, but after getting his diamond pin and money one of the men struck him, knocking him down. Policeman Aikens found the jockey's tie on the sidewalk, but the diamond pin had been taken out. Martin's hat was broken and he was hurt about the head.

2nd. You are not trying to beat the card—you play your horses, pocket your winnings and quit for the day.

3rd. It requires less capital and there is no chance of getting a string of losers.

4th. Cashing on two and sometimes three races a day is an easy matter on this plan. Think this over. It will appeal to your good judgment.

PHIL AND MIKE.

The story of the Dwyer brothers, Phil and Mike, is always interesting to turfmen. It was in August, 1876, that they won their first race with Rhadamanthus up at Saratoga. They had been butchers in Brooklyn and fascinated by the stories of triumph on the turf they had gradually drifted into the game until they registered under the firm name of P. Dwyer & Bro. Although Rhadamanthus was not a high-class racehorse the Dwyers handled him so skillfully that they won again and again with him, in each instance backed to win small fortunes.

Had Rhadamanthus been a loser the future of the Dwyers in the turf world would never have turned out so sensationally successful as it was up to about ten years ago. Encouraged by success, the brothers soon began to branch out. They purchased Vigil, then a three-year-old, and the unnamed brother to Bassett from Col. D. McDaniel and paid $5,000 each for them. In a few months Vigil won himself out and also enabled the Dwyers to cash some heavy wagers made on him.

Going down to a meeting in Baltimore in the latter part of 1876, the Dwyers started Vigil in the historic Dixie Stakes. The colt was an outsider in the betting yet the Dwyers, particularly Mike, bet heavily on him. Pierre Lorillard, in those days the king pin in turf affairs, was represented in this race by two horses, one of them Parole, the famous thoroughbred which later won the City and Suburban Handicap in England for the master of Rancocas. Parole and his stable mate were big favorites in the Dixie yet Vigil won and incidentally turned over $12,000, the value of the stake, to the Dwyers. In that year alone the Dwyers won $17,661 in stakes and purses with only three horses, which was encouragement for them to continue operations on an even larger scale. But poor racing luck confronted them during the following campaign, their gross winnings in stakes and purses being only $2,755.

Convinced that there was a fortune awaiting them, however, the Dwyers went ahead with a successful campaign in 1878 in which they won $16,893 in stakes and purses. After that their power was gradually increased until their stable was the master of the situation. In fifteen years that their partnership continued their horses won a total of $1,310,554.

Believers in the best blood, the Dwyers were always ready to spend fabulous sums for great horses. They paid $15,000 for Hindoo and the horse became the most famous of his time. Then they got hold of Luke Blackburn and developed him into a cup horse which beat the best horses of his year in long-distance events. It was under their care and the expert handling of James Rowe, who trained for the Dwyers, that Miss Woodford became the most celebrated race mare of the time and one of the greatest ever seen on an American track. George Kinney, Rummymede, Barnes, Inspector B., Dewdrop, Passicue, Pontiac, Tremont, Hanover, Kingston, Bootjack, Dan K., Longstreet and such famous stake winners occupied stalls in the Dwyers' stables at various times, their successes on the turf being the talk of the horse world.

In 1886 the Dwyers enjoyed their greatest series of triumphs. Tremont won every race he started in that season, having more than $40,000 to his credit at the end of his campaign. Other horses which carried the Dwyers' colors that season were almost as successful as Tremont, so that the stable's winnings in stakes and purses on the season was $3,816, a record in its way up to that time.

The Dwyers, who had become heavy buyers at the yearling sales, adopted the policy of buying the yearlings on blood lines that they themselves had found to be productive of success. Vigil, which had won the first big stake for them in Baltimore in 1876, was sired by Virgil and for that reason they always showed a fondness for Virgil's get. That was why they secured Hindoo, Tremont and other big stake winners. When Hindoo went wrong and was sent away to the stud, the Dwyers bought the mighty Hanover for $1,350. He raced three times as a two-year-old and was not beaten. As a three-year-old he swept the decks and his share of stakes and purses was $89,772, which was more than had ever been earned before in a single year by an American thoroughbred.

When Hanover went to the stud, Phil Dwyer bought Handspring, the son of Hanover, and when Handspring's racing days were at an end his owner purchased the famous colt, Major Daingerfield, whose wonderful performances this year have not been forgotten.

With James Rowe as their trainer and later Frank McCabe, the Dwyers engaged James McLaughlin to ride for them. For eleven years McLaughlin wore the Dwyer colors and became famous the world over. When he left the Dwyers, he got too heavy to ride; then, failing as a starter, he became a trainer and he is still plying this vocation.

There was always a marked difference in the brothers' methods. Phil was careful, conservative and saving. Mike was more of a sport, a heavy bettor and inclined to be reckless as well as a dictator on the racetracks. It was soon well known that when Phil wagered a few hundred dollars on one of his horses Mike bet thousands. In fact, Mike came to be known as the most sensational plunger on the American turf. A $10,000 bet was nothing to him. He was on the lookout for sure things, and there were several occasions when he placed as much as $50,000 on a horse to win, say, $5,000, the odds being 1 to 10 on the Dwyer horse. It was in vain that Phil remonstrated with Mike relative to these stupendous betting operations. Mike was headstrong, and even went so far as to dictate the management of the stable. When Phil saw that his brother would not heed his advice a mutual agreement was arrived at by which the great stable was sold at auction. This was in 1890, and when the sale had taken place the brothers continued to race each independent of the other.

Phil had in the meantime built the Brooklyn Jockey Club's track at Gravesend, which he still owns and which has made him a millionaire several times over. Mike went across the Hudson and built the Elizabeth track at a large outlay, only to have its gates closed later on by the enforcement of the law against racing and bookmaking, framed by the Jersey legislators.

Racing apart, the brothers did not begin to have the good luck of previous years. At the sale of the late August Belmont's horses in 1891, Mike bought the Futurity winner, Potomac, for $25,000, and in that season he won $36,000 with him. Phil bought Bolero at the same time for $35,000 at the sale of Congressman Scott's stable, but the colt did not come up to expectations and won only about $2,000 in 1891. Raceland was also sold to Mike Dwyer for $7,000 and the following campaign he won $22,000 for the plunger, who was constantly betting. With eighteen horses Mike won $163,512 in stakes and purses in 1891, while Phil had to be contented with $88,600, the earnings of fourteen horses. In 1893 Mike won $98,555 with Banquet, Raceland, Don Alonzo and others, but that was the beginning of his downfall. He made a disastrous trip to England later and came back broken in health and spirit.

Gradually the former plunger saw his fortune slipping out of his grasp. The horses would not run for him and his big bets went up in smoke. Through this adversity Mike Dwyer never complained. He never showed what his feelings were, though his inward sufferings must have been intense. One day he bet $25,000 on a horse and saw him beaten by a nose. Those who knew of the wager expected to see Mike collapse. Instead they saw him turn away coolly, as if he was going to dinner. Not a word escaped from his lips and not a tinge of excitement appeared on his features. He was simply an icicle.

Soon the turf would have it that Mike Dwyer was "broke." It was a fact that the former plunger, broken down in health, because of the terrific strain upon his nerves had struck the down grade. In his distress, Phil extended a helping hand. Mike had a home on the Gravesend track, where he still lives with his family. He was heavily involved, it was said, and turfmen who had been his bitter enemies while he prospered felt sorry for him.

But Mike never forgot his old love for the racehorse. To all of the Long Island tracks he was driven by his faithful attendant, Whalen, and sitting in a buggy, well wrapped up, the former plunger looked over the card and watched the races with the old fire in his eye. He always had a bet down and soon he began to win a little. Ethics was his breadwinner. The colt began to win for Dwyer a year ago and soon the report was current that the man who once bet $50,000 on one race was slowly but surely paying off his old debts. When the present season opened Mike Dwyer started with a clean slate and Ethics. The colt had been faithful to him and today Mike owes much to the game little son of Charaxus—Ethics. But while the father is getting back on his feet his son Charlie has been meeting with reverses. The son had to sell his stable recently because of losses, but like his father he never gives up the ship. One day last month young Dwyer stood to win $100,000 on one race. His horse was beaten a neck and the son of his father walked away, chewing a quill. He is a chip of the old block.—New York Sun.

JOCKEYS HANDICAPPED.

DAILY RACING FORM will from now on publish each week a table of the rating of the jockeys riding at each track based on their performances in the saddle. The best riders at each track will be given the uniform rating of 100, and from that point the others will be graded down according to their estimated relative skill. For a difference of five points between the jockeys a corresponding five points change in the handicap figures assigned the horses in any race must be made. Only riders frequently in the saddle will be given a place in the tables. The following is the rating of the jockeys now riding over the various tracks:

She was only cantering at the finish and won going away. Facade showed a lot of early speed, raced Pat Garrett to exhaustion and finished strongly. Trocadero was under a drive all of the last furlong. Pay the Fiddler was cut off at the far turn and knocked out of it. He might have been a contender but for this.

Two Lick ran in improved form under a strong ride, was well in hand to the home turn and came away fast in the last furlong. Naulahka finished gamely under a hard drive and just managed to last long enough to stall off Adios. The latter was on the outside all the way. Georgie West showed much early speed and broke from the extreme outside. Lady Hasbrouck was responsible for the delay at the post.

this track. Lyman Hay also stuck to his work well and ran a fine race. Joe Cobb's recent long races have probably dulled his early speed, but he improved his position throughout. Winner—Ch. f, by Horoscope—The Gloaming (trained by J. E. Gardner).
Went to post at 4:05. At post 1 minute. Start bad. Won easily; second driving. Early Eve's last race just fitted her and she was well handled throughout. Weiber avoided the early pace and saved ground by getting through next to the rail at the stretch turn. The filly closed up fast in the final furlong and Weiber rode a good hand finish. Brunswick would have won with capable handling, but was messed all the way and finished strongly. Desouza handled Past in fair style, but the filly could not last the distance. The rider was of no help to Essene. Snark displayed speed, but the route was too far, as he is only a sprinter.
